Hackers Congress Paralelní Polis

Since 2014, Hackers Congress Paralelní Polis is one of the premier events for hackers, artists, activists, libertarians, and cryptoenthusiasts in Europe. Its main goal is to celebrate the new era of digital freedom and cryptotechnologies. The congress aims to promote the most recent trends and events from the wide variety of fields such as art, science, cryptotechnologies, decentralized economy, and hacktivism.

The 2015 HCPP drew over 250 attendants, complete with academics, tech-entrepreneurs, journalists and students, and we are ready to scale the whole event up! Moreover, this year we are excited to enrich the whole concept of the congress with partnership of Ultrahack a well known elite hackers gathering combining innovation tournament and 48h hackathon. We hope your organization will consider joining us in celebrating the new era of decentralized technologies.

Paralelní Polis

Paralelní Polis is a one-of-a-kind nonprofit organization that brings together art, social sciences, and modern technologies. The ideas of liberty, independency, and innovative thinking and development of society are the main underlying foundations the whole project is built upon.

The project intents to remain state free as it operates entirely without support from the government, and most of the funds come from voluntary contributions of our donors and partly from commercial activities such as running a unique coworking space and the world's first bitcoin-only cafe.

It was founded by members of a contemporary art group Ztohoven, and Slovak and Czech hackerspaces. Its main goal is to promote economic, social and digital freedom. We aim to be a vocal voice of freedom in order to shape the public discourse, and ultimately works towards a freer future.
